Old Glory's Wreckage Towed to St. Johns

Steamer Kyle Finds No Trace of Fliers Lost On Ocean Hop

Part of Missing Hearst Plane Picked up About 100 Miles From Position Where Bertaud, Hill and Payne Sent Out S. O. S. Call on Proposed Flight to Rome.

NEWSPAPER REPORTER ON BOARD VESSEL SENDS MESSAGE TO EDITOR

It is Generally Believed Three Airmen Were Drowned, Although Forlorn Hope is Still Held in Some Quarters That They Were Rescued by Small Fishing Boat.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Avra N. Warren, American consul at St. Johns, reported to the state department today that the wreckage of the Old Glory was being brought into St. Johns aboard the government steamer Kyle.

He said that efforts to find the plane's crew had been unsuccessful.

WRECKAGE OF CANADIAN PLANE REPORTED FOUND IN CORNWALL

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Air ministry and Croydon airbase officials today began investigating the theory that airplane wreckage washed up at New Quay, Cornwall, may be from the Canadian trans-Atlantic plane St. John Carling, which disappeared while flying from Canada to England.

Officials declared that no commercial nor military planes are missing while the wreckage is not believed to be part of the missing French plane "White Bird" nor the lost British plane St. Raphael.

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, Sept. 13.—The steamship Kyle, which picked up wreckage of the lost American airplane Old Glory in the North Atlantic, continued the search today for traces of the three occupants of the plane—Lloyd Bertaud, James D. Hill, navigators, and Philip Payne, managing editor of the New York Daily Mirror.

Part of the Old Glory was picked up by the Kyle about 100 miles from the position where the airplane had sent out an "SOS" call. Word of the finding of the wreckage was contained in the following radiogram from Douglas Muir, a newspaper reporter on board the Kyle, to the Daily Mirror:

"Located wreckage of Old Glory in latitude 51.17 north, longitude 39.23 west at 4:20 o'clock Monday afternoon. No signs of crew. Particulars will follow."

Newspaper Charters Steamer.

The Kyle had been chartered by the New York Daily Mirror to search for the missing plane. According to the position given by Muir, it is believed that the wreckage drifted northward after striking the water.

It is generally believed that the three men were drowned, although the forlorn hope is still held in some quarters that they might have been picked up by a small fishing boat, not equipped with wireless.

Hope for the fliers was based upon the fact that the plane carried a collapsible life raft. However, it was pointed out that the plane crashed at a point where the Atlantic is always turbulent and it was feared that the men would soon become exhausted trying to remain afloat upon a small raft in the tempestuous seas unless they were speedily picked up.

Muir's radiogram did not state what part of the plane had been found, but it was supposed that it was one of the wings. It is believed that the body of the plane would have been carried to the bottom by the motor and fuel and oil tanks.

Hopped Off Week Ago.

The Old Glory hopped off from Old Orchard, Me., one week ago today to attempt a non-stop flight to Rome. She flew northward along the coast to Newfoundland, bearing eastward over the Atlantic from the Newfoundland coast line. She evidently encountered difficulties after flying several hundred miles over the water.

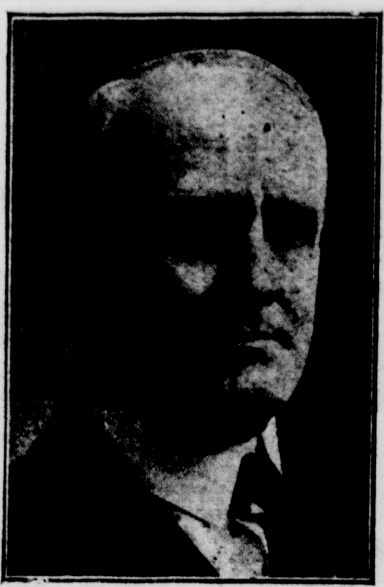

After one signal for help, which was picked up by the steamship Transylvania, the wireless immediately went dead, indicating that the plane had fallen to the surface of the ocean.

Heart Attack Kills River Bridge Worker

Coroner Arner Renders Verdict After Body of Walter Smith, 22, is Recovered From Water.

A verdict of "heart failure" in the death of Walter Smith, 22, Erie street bridge worker, who plunged into the Ohio river from a scaffold upon which he was working on the West Virginia side of the Chester-East Liverpool bridge, yesterday afternoon was rendered by a jury empaneled by Coroner George A. Arner at Chester, last night.

Dr. J. A. Pyle, Chester, who made an examination of Smith's body after it was taken from the river, found no water in the lungs of the victim. He expressed the belief that Smith had suffered an attack of acute indigestion, which affected his heart action. The young man is believed to have died before he struck the water.

Smith, with three other workmen, was "pointing" the stone wall forming the pier on the Chester side of the river, when he fell 15 feet into the water.

After a three hour search, grappling hooks in charge of Fireman Earl Fenlon caught the clothing of the victim about 75 feet below the point where Smith sank. The body was towed to the West Virginia shore and later taken to the Arner morgue.

In the boat with Fenton was Captain B. F. Wynn of Chester. About six

Many Ships Destroyed.

The wave struck the coast with terrific force. Houses were carried two miles inland by the gigantic flow of water, which maintained a height of about ten feet as it swept inland.

The casualties at Nakamura were placed at 1,000. Seven persons were known to be dead in that city.

At Kojima, the casualties were placed at 150, and many other persons were reported missing.

Other districts reported that many other casualties occurred.

Reports reaching here, said many ships were destroyed by the tidal wave.

A heavy rumbling noise was heard preceding the tidal wave, indicating that the tidal wave was precipitated by a submarine earthquake.

Storms were general throughout Japan during the tidal wave. The city of Kumamoto was flooded and many buildings were destroyed.

At Nagasaki, the wind was so violent that roofs were blown from buildings.

Many other districts reported violent rain storms. It is estimated several thousand houses were damaged by the heavy deluge.

The prefecture of Kumamoto was without rail or telegraph communication today. Wireless is the only means of communication to that district.

"WHAT PRICE GLORY" THRILLS CERAMIC CROWD

One Minute You Laugh, Then You Cry.

BEST OF SEASON

Wonderful Picture, Stirring Entertainment, Interesting.

East Liverpool theatregoers were thrilled by "The Big Parade" and other war pictures with love themes, but never have they witnessed as great a screen offering as "What Price Glory," the silver sheet story of the great stage play by Maxwell Anderson and Laurence Stallings, which opened a week's engagement at the Ceramic theatre last night.

With an augmented orchestra featuring the all-important music in the presentation of a picturization of the calibre of "What Price Glory," easily the best of its kind, the Raol Walsh production scored a decided hit.

Stallings, a captain of marines in the Second division in France during the World war, and Anderson, author of one or two successful plays before, tell the real story of "over there" in this great war comedy-drama.

"What Price Glory" is a wonderful picture, stirring entertainment and, above all things, vehemently interesting. It has all the ringing spirit of the play with a pictorial impressiveness that no stage production could ever possess.

And, too, it has uproariously funny comedy. One moment you laugh and the next you cry. That's "What Price Glory."

Victor McLaglen, as Captain Flagg, and Dolores Del Rio, as Charmaine, and Edmund Lowe, as Sergeant Quirt, have given the screen three of the greatest characterizations on record.

At times last night the audience would laugh loud and reach such a high pitch of enthusiasm that it would burst into applause—and a few minutes later you could hear a pin drop. Human drama, pathos and love, that is "What Price Glory." It is a gripping story of a conflict told with startling realism. Walsh, the director of the picture, has kept faith with the authors, for he has, with uncanny skill, translated these humans to the screen, not mere picture puppets, but pulsating men and women who live and breathe, laugh and cry, fight and love—a veritable maelstrom of emotions.

There is the background of the war, of course, but "What Price Glory" emerges on the screen as an epic of laughs behind the lines. Here is a drama of life, fierce and ugly, beautiful and rapturous, and the whole etched with bits of comedy, so naturally funny that it makes the risibilities to a newer and finer sense of humor. It is behind the lines that we meet the hard boiled Captain Flagg, the picturesque campaigner, Sergeant Quirt, the Beau Brummel of the marines, and Charmaine, as captivating a French damsel as any two men could fight over. She loves both men. To her they are Yankee and the finest and bravest warriors, who are ready to fight to death for her favor. About such human, characteristic figures does this dramatic comedy of the screen evolve.

And, of course, we mustn't forget Private Kiper and Private Lipinsky played by Ted McNamara and Sammy Cohen, who add so much warmth and real humor to the production.

"What Price Glory" is the most sincere film in history. To see it is to become a living part of it.

GIRL PREACHER GIVES SERMON

Miss Edna Beugher at Evangelical Church.

Edna Beugher of Lorain, O. girl evangelist in charge of services in the Evangelical church here, will continue her sermons the remainder of the week and with three meetings on Sunday, according to announcement today by Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor.

On Thursday night she will deliver a sermon for young people.

Last night Miss Beugher discussed the text, "The Wages of Sin is Death."

She said, in part:

"His servants ye are to whom ye obey. Some folks say we have to sin every day. Well, then, we are sinners and not Christians, for we are servants to obey his servants ye are to whom ye obey whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness."

"Do you know that when you sin every day that you are of the Devil. The Bible says so, and the wages of sin is death."

"The enemy of your soul never did you one good thing. The Devil only did one thing for which he deserves credit and that is as an example. He never takes any vacation. Did you ever stop to think that every sad tear you shed is the direct result of sin."

"Sin is of the heart. A mistake is the head. The soul that sinneth it shall die. You may take somebody else's book by mistake but that is not sin because you don't know it. But when you do something that you know is wrong that is sin."

"Conscience is used of God to prick you. A boy asked one day, 'what is conscience?' The answer was given. Conscience is a square and every time it turns over it cuts corners. You need to do business on the square. But you say, I am honest I don't tell lies, I don't steal, therefore I am a Christian. Yes you may be a moral man and you may keep all the commandments but the first one. But listen, the first one says thou shalt have no other Gods before me. That's where it gets the moral man, for he has another God. We all need salvation. We were not born angels."

REO FLYING CLOUD

She is the "Ideal" of the Engineers

SHE is not an eight nor a four but a six—the ideal engine, say the engineers.

—She is not 116" long, nor 126", but exactly 121"—the ideal length, say the engineers.

—She does not have a valve-in-head motor nor a sleeve valve motor, but an L-Head motor—the ideal type, say the engineers.

—She does not have cantilever springs, neither worm gear nor hypoid gear final drive, nor a four-bearing crankshaft, but she does have half-elliptic springs, spiral bevel gear final drive and a seven-bearing crankshaft—all ideal, say the engineers.

—She has none of the old and the obsolete, she does not offer you in 1927 the features of 1925, but from stem to stern, from roof to road, she is entirely new.

—No other car in the world today even approaches the Flying Cloud in its identity with the Engineers' Ideal Car.

—That is why a leading automotive paper has said that the Reo Flying Cloud is "the only feature in an otherwise colorless automobile season."

The Flying Cloud is a Pleasure Car

—She is a pleasure to see, to ride in, to drive, to own.

—She brings to motoring a thrill that mere passenger cars never had.

—She makes old cars obsolete and many of the newest dear at any price.

—Be sure to try one out. Then you'll understand why the engineers say that such a car is ideal. You'll know that a car rightly designed and built can give you more than transportation, can make traveling a pleasure at all times.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

ARE U. S. SENATORS OVERPAID? SEE WHAT ERNST HAS DONE

Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.—Ecclesiastes.
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The Review-Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—When Richard P. Ernst came to Washington, from Covington (Ky.), as a new senator, the very first thing they stuck him with was the chairmanship of a special committee to revise the federal laws.

It was a thankless job, which had been crying out for doing more years than Ernst had lived, and he was near 70 at that.

Federal laws simply had been passed and passed, and passed, from the birth of his republic until that year 1921, when the Kentuckian took his senate seat, and allowed to pile up, without ever being sorted or classified, to a point where nobody knew how to find anything, or even what was law and what wasn't.

THE trouble was, the government literally hadn't been able to find anybody to undertake the stupendous job of straightening 'em out. It was just plain unadulterated hard work, and not the kind that could be pointed to with pride, either, for it was a prosaic stunt.

But it so happens that Ernst's one of those faithful folks, with an ingraining sense of duty. He could see that there was something that had to be done, sooner or later, and he went at it.

He toiled and moiled for six long years—his entire term—and he succeeded in boiling several large libraries down into one volume, about twice the size of an unabridged dictionary. It's the marvel of the legal profession the country over, but the amount of labor it involved was absolutely incredible.

AND what did Ernst get out of it?

Well, he got let out of the senate at the end of his term. True, he shouldn't have been a Kentucky Republican if he wanted to be re-elected. Yet he did want to be re-elected, and he wasn't.

When he was gone, others grabbed off the credit for his revision of the laws. He didn't even get that. Few people know it's his revision.

All he got was a sense of duty well done—if that's any satisfaction to him—and the $10,000 a year he drew as senator. If that revision had been paid for at the rate it costs to turn out an encyclopedia—and the two undertakings are fairly comparable—it would have footed at least half a million.

NOW along comes Senator Couzens and says senators are overpaid and loaf entirely too much.

It isn't fair.

Heavens knows it would pay the country to put some senators on salaries to stay away from Washington. Some are lazy and overpaid, but not all.

Senator Smoot, for instance, is a horse for work. You may not always like what he produces, but he does it according to his lights, and no sweat shop ever exacted more days a week or hours a day from its slaves than he puts in.

Ditto Senator Curtis and Senator Robinson and quite a few others.

THE fact is, Senator Couzens is the executive type—not the legislative. In the senate he's out of place. He doesn't really know what a senator's work is, or he could find something to do.

Couzens is chairman of the committee on education and labor. Let him dig into those two subjects alone, and he'll find they'll occupy his mind.

ELKS HOLDING ANNUAL SESSION

Annual state convention of the Elks opened yesterday at Bluefield with members of the order present from every section of the state.

An elaborate program has been arranged for the sessions which will close Wednesday night. Speakers of national reputation are scheduled to deliver addresses.

The third game will be staged on the Newell diamond Saturday afternoon.

FORMER GOVERNOR TO MAKE ADDRESS

Hon. Charles S. Whitman, former governor of New York and former president of the American Bar association, will be the principal speaker at the annual convention of the West Virginia Bar association which is to be held in Wheeling on October 6 and 7.

The Ohio county bar association will be hosts to at least 200 leading barristers of the state. An elaborate program has been arranged for the entertainment of the visitors.

Face Liquor Charges.

Dan Bashakes and Steve Leander of Weirton were lodged in the Ohio county jail by federal prohibition officers on charges of liquor violations. They were arrested when three gallons of liquor and 26 pints of home brew were seized in their homes at Weirton. Agents Heide and Prince, assisted by state troopers, made the raid.

Prayer Services Listed.

Prayer meeting services will be held tomorrow night in the various churches of the city with the respective pastors in charge of the devotionals.

As for $10,000 a year, maybe it does sound liberal, but a senator has quite a few expenses he can't dodge. It wouldn't be surprising to know that Couzens's own clerk hire stands him in ten grand per annum. If he wants to go for nothing, all right, but there are senators who aren't rich enough to be sued by the treasury department for 11 millions—who have to live on what they get from Uncle Sam.

NORMA SHEARER IN COMEDY HIT

"Demi-Bride," at American, Proves Screen Winner.

"The Demi-Bride," starring Norma Shearer with Lew Cody, proves to be one of the really uproarious comedies of the season, laugh piling up on laugh, each a little better than the last.

The picture, a Metro-Goldwyn Mayer production directed by Robert Z. Leonard, opened yesterday at the American theatre to a capacity audience of Shearer and Cody fans. That the picture will prove a great drawing card was indicated by the manner in which it was received.

Although Miss Shearer has appeared in a wide range of roles during her screen career, it is probably safe to say that the utter lack of sophistication of this one seems more ideally suited to her than the vast majority of the others she has appeared in.

The picture opens with Norma as a student at a French boarding school and keeps her as a naive and almost childlike person throughout its entirety. In fact, it is this naive quality on which the entire play was built by F. Hugh Herbert and Florence Ryerson.

Norma's interpretation of the starring role of this production is one of the real high spots of her screen career and will add a host of fan followers. At no time did she seem any other than a naive school girl innocently battling the sophistication of her stepmother by her self-confidence and ignorance of worldly affairs.

Carmel Myers handles the role of the Viennese stepmother in a most satisfactory manner, her subtlety and sophistication standing out in contrast to the innocence of the daughter.

Seven Ballots For Fall Election

East Liverpool electors will be kept busy during the five-minute period allowed in the voting booth on Tuesday, November 8, for seven ballots will be used in the 22 precincts of Columbiana county's largest city, deputy state supervisors of elections announced today.

- The ballots are:
- 1—Municipal ticket, listing Republican, Democratic and independent candidates.
  - 2—Non-partisan township ticket of candidates for trustee and clerk.
  - 3—Non-partisan board of education ticket.
  - 4—Municipal court ticket.
  - 5—Proposed one-mill fire department levy.
  - 6—Referendum on municipal ordinance prohibiting sale or discharge of fireworks within city limits.
  - 7—State-wide referendum on Marshall bill, which places village mayors, justices of the peace and constables on a salary basis.
- The seventh ballot was made certain last night, when council, by a vote of 5 to 2, Solons Farrall and Kommel opposing, certified to the election board a resolution calling for a decision of the electorate on a proposal to increase the strength of the fire fighting force from 13 to 28 men.

Although the election is more than eight weeks distant, it is not too early for voters to begin to study the qualifications of the candidates and the purposes of the special issue, so they can ballot intelligently when they go to the polls.

The Motorcade

Something new and spectacular in motoring is the "International Motorcade which originated in New Orleans and is moving along the Appalachian Scenic Highway toward Quebec by way of North Carolina, the Shenandoah Valley, Pennsylvania and New York.

Its progress is rather deliberate, for the idea is really to see the scenic beauty through which it passes and get acquainted with the cities and people along the way. It is being entertained, too, in an unusual way, by communities en route. Its personnel includes representatives of state and city governments, highway commissions and the press, and there is naturally plenty of personal and official contact as the caravan moves forward from point to point. The motorists are reported as having a fine time.

This trek will call attention emphatically to the attractions of the Appalachian mountains for motorists in general. Eastern folk are prone to overlook the beauties right at their own door, and many western folk have never heard of them, or else consider eastern scenery too petty compared with their own.

There is lacking, to be sure, the rugged grandeur of the Rockies, the glory of desolation found in the western deserts and the impressive beauties of the far-western mountain ranges and natural parks; yet the attractions of the Appalachians and Adirondacks are no more to be despised than are those of Switzerland. The very fact that they are planned by Nature on a smaller scale makes it easier to reach and enjoy them.

The real point of the matter, however, is the origination of this motorcade idea. It can be adapted to any section of the country. We may soon have motorcades winding their way everywhere.

Viking Winners

The other day, in New York harbor, lifeboat crews made up from the regular crews of a number of ocean liners, participated in the first international lifeboat race. Norwegians, Germans, French, British, Dutch and American crews were among the contestants.

The Norwegians won. Two lifeboats manned by sons of Vikings came in first and second. A third reached the goal but was disqualified because it had not been properly entered, so third place went to a French group from the liner De Grasse. Hollanders were fourth and Germans fifth. A British lifeboat came in ninth. Americans trailed in at the end.

Mose of these crews trained for the race for several weeks before the actual contest. But the victorious Norwegians who won had trained for only four days, because they hadn't heard about the race until then.

Perhaps the other oarsmen were over-trained. Or perhaps the Norwegian rowers, who happened to be the ship's carpenter and a steward, just couldn't help winning because of their ancestry. Their forebears were rowing about over the seas many years before those of most of the other contestants.

The News Spread—

By Fontaine Fox

SOMEWHERE IN COLORADO

Sept. 13.—This train with giant grunts and sissabs puffs sturdily up a mountain side. There are cabins of unplanned boards and a thin line of miners with mystic headlights on their way down into the black mines.

A group of yellowish Mexican greasers on handcars along a siding wave and grin shyly. Lumbering into an old trading post is a touch of the covered wagon days—a prairie schooner. Underneath a canvas flap two women and several children peer out. Nearby is the coil of smoke from a breakfast camp fire.

We are on this glorious morning of wrath-like clouds, now faintly tinting rose pink, in the "high country." It is difficult to realize in the upholstered comfort of a train coach that not so many miles away are wild horses, bear and deer.

A stone cast away in a little clearing is a log cabin home and the porter shoves a Denver paper under the door with a thick flaming headline: "Film Actress Shoots Executive and Self." A gentleman enjoying his morning ablutions in the wash room whistles a tune from a Broadway hit.

And a little further along on a brick red depot platform three noisy cowboys in broad-brimmed hats and high heeled boots are sky larking. Bananadas encircle their tawny necks. Spurs jangle at the bottom of sheepskin chaparrals. Three drooping calico ponies are halted to a rack.

Then the wide red clay main street of a western town. All ready automobiles are parked at the curb and the sun is not out. An erect buck Indian wrapped in a gay colored shawl stands statue like in front of an unopened pool hall lettered: "Joe's Place" puffing at a brown paper cigarette.

On the porch of a general store are a few stragglers in overalls with the leathery faces and squinting eyes of those who constantly face the wind and sun in the open. The train mounts a ridge and the open door of an old frontier shack on the side of a gulch reveals a man trying his morning trout in a skillet.

A brief stop. Passengers debouch to stretch legs along the train side. A tanned fellow with a brown and green checked flannel shirt and a yellow Montana diamond in its bosom addresses you. Much gold has been used in the decoration of his teeth. One cheek bulges with a generous wad of scrap tobacco.

"What kind of a houn' is that, poddner?" he inquires kindly. You want to tell him it is not a hound but a pedigreed pup—at least you were told it was. But you reply: "A Boston bully."

He turns to a garbled station lounge.

er, lets go an amber spray and says: "Ike, fetch a good hookin' bull and see how this houn' tackles him." Everybody laughs. And you are glad the conductor has yelled: "Board."

Colorado has a certain something you cannot describe but for lack of a better word you call it majesty. There is a glowering indifference to its mountains, an overwhelming grandeur to its forests and somehow you sense a determination among its hardy people even though they poke fun at your dog. And Denver, for instance, is just as up to date as Washington, D. C.

There is no thrill like sitting in a dining car eating the same choice fare of the best hotels in New York while thundering through rugged country. You look up from honey dew melon to see a sprightly city, turn to your melon and look up again to see granite boulders of a mighty canon.

"Where you from?" a bulky gentleman without a necktie across the table asks abruptly.

"New York," you reply. And somehow you have a pride in being from there.

"Know the Sid Timminses?" You confess they are not among your acquaintances and he turns silently to his food with faint disgust. You do not amount to much in his eyes if you do not know Sid and the other Timminses.

You pass through the day coach filled with crying babies, banana skins and soiled lunch boxes—and tired mothers going to a new home in a new land. Somehow it is touching. And you don't know why.

I don't know nothin' about aviation, but I do know that if we all waited around till the weather got right we'd never git no place.

re-elected unanimously gave for the whimsy of one presidential election, and it appeared that the bitter differences of a quarter of a century were at an end.

Then came the coalition between the adherents of Henry Clay and those of John Quincy Adams that resulted in the defeat of Andrew Jackson for the presidency in 1824 and the era of good feeling was all done and over, to be succeeded by an era of the bitterest kind of politics the country has ever known, and it has witnessed some bitter periods within the memory of men now living—the struggle over the right of states to secede from the Union which led to the Civil war, the Hayes-Tilden campaign, the Blaine-Cleveland campaign, and the fight over the monetary issue which climaxed in 1896, for examples.

That century-old era of good feeling was political. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis sees a new era of good feeling in the United States today which is industrial, essentially, in that after years of economic experimentalism the country has solved the problem of permanent prosperity through better industrial relations. He believes, he says that Americans have learned how to keep a reasonable prosperity with them as a fixed and priceless possession.

Vicious Cycle of Boom and Panic. In wage controversies within recent years much has been heard of a so-called vicious circle in which higher wages necessitated higher prices, which in turn led to demands for higher wages that would call for still higher prices and again bring about demands for higher wages, and so on, world without end. Secretary Davis, in discussing the new era of good feeling, refers to a somewhat similar vicious cycle of boom and panic that has characterized business conditions and developments in this country.

"Throughout the history of our country and well up to six years ago," he says in the National Republic, "American business has been subject to fixed periods of boom times, invariably followed by reaction. This procession of boom and panic has become so regular that we all had come to regard the cycle as part of the laws of nature. Because it seemed an expression of the very laws of nature, no effort was made to break this vicious cycle. The mere proposal to launch an effort to break it would have been listened to with ridicule. Men would have said it couldn't be done."

"Yet by all the rules of this cycle of economic rise and fall we were due for a business slump two years ago. The slump has not occurred. No slump whatever is in sight. We continue to prosper. In a word, we have cracked the old cycle of boom and panic. I believe we have arrived at an economic wisdom, we have set up economic methods, that will make impossible or extremely difficult any return of the old cycle."

For this state of affairs, Secretary Davis gives due credit to the stabilization of business and finance by the Federal Reserve banking system, but the big thing, in his opinion, is that employers and employees no longer are in an attitude of fixed hostility one to the other. Ever-recurring labor disputes, he says, with their costly stoppage of production and the disturbance they wrought to industry in general, contributed largely to the old cycle of booms and panics. Much of recent prosperity is the result of a better spirit that has come into being between the 43,000,000 American workers and their employers.

"The old suspicion and hostility have given way to thorough understanding and willing partnership," he says. "Great strikes have all but disappeared entirely. The coal industry seems the only one left to be afflicted by them, and I hope for the time when that industry also may be or."

SERGEANT QUIRT IS PUT TO BED

TOO MUCH FOR HIS ACTIVE NATURE

A PASSIONATE GREETING

SO YOU BEAT ME BACK

SEVENTEENTH EPISODE
QUIRT is put to bed with his injured knee. Flagg is busy mopping up after the engagement in which both men have shown such courage.
Charmaine back at Cognac Pete's, mourns for Mother's Boy and longs for the return of one or both of her gallant lovers.

The hospital proves too much for Quirt's active nature. While the nurses are not watching he steals out, picking up a Major's coat, which he throws over his hospital pajamas—then off to Cognac Pete's and Charmaine. The going is rough and heavy, but Quirt keeps his promise to be the first one back.
As Charmaine sits by a table with a flickering lamp's rays shining on her face Quirt opens the door and stands in hospital garb, smiling down at the girl. She greets him passionately. While Quirt is out of the room for a moment Flagg appears in the same doorway, a mud-spattered, weary figure. Charmaine prepares food. "You knew papa was coming," coos the Captain, but the sentence ends without warmth. There's Quirt at the door. "So you sneaked around and beat me back," sneers Flagg. "Certainly I beat you back. I can beat you fighting and thinking and talking and loving," parries Quirt. (To Be Continued Tomorrow)

LITHUANIAN TROOPS AND RED REBELS RENEW CLASH

COMMUNISTS KIDNAP LEADER OF LOYAL ARMY

Martial Law Proclaimed Along Border and in Cities.

STRIKE CALLED

Police and Soldiers Arrest More Than 2,000 Persons.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—Furious fighting between Lithuanian troops and red rebels is in progress in the forests near Tauragien, the scene of Saturday's Communist rising, according to advices from Kovno, received here today via Warsaw.

The rebels kidnaped Col. Ignatovich, commander of the government troops at Tauragien.

Martial law has been proclaimed in the border districts and in the large cities.

Lithuanian trade unions are protesting against the arrest of labor leaders and have called a general strike in protest, beginning today.

Dispatches estimate the number of prisoners arrested by the police and soldiers at 2,000.

The Lithuanian government is reported to have appointed a special committee to suppress the rebellion ruthlessly.

Three masked rebels entered the police station at Krottingen, shot the chief of police to death and escaped.

HITS EPIDEMIC IN NOON TALK

Rotary Hears Charles Short Discuss Paralysis.

Infantile paralysis, its causes and cures, was discussed by Charles Short, representative of the Eli-Lilly company, Indianapolis wholesale pharmaceutical dealers, at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. today.

Frederick W. Herche, sixth street druggist, was chairman of the meeting. Martin Abbott presided, and about 35 members were present. The group singing was led by Dr. R. R. Bode. Next week's meeting will be in charge of Wilson F. Smith.

The speaker discussed the merits of the serum recently discovered which it is claimed is a preventive of infantile paralysis. He declared that the evil effects left by the disease can very often be prevented if the disease is arrested in its early stages.

TODAY

MONEY plus interest makes money. Indians sold New York City for $40 to Dutchmen. Had they placed that sum at 6 per cent compounded on the day they sold the land, their heirs would have more money now than New York City is worth.

Chauncey Depew, past 50 years, tells how he put $100 in the savings bank 66 years ago, and now has $1,100 in the bank.

BUT interest, while sure, is slow. A good idea makes money quickly.

John E. Andrus, called the "straphanger millionaire," because he hangs to street car straps when he might ride in his automobile, bought one share of Singer Sewing Machine stock for a few dollars in 1864. Having bought a good thing, he knew enough to keep it. That share has paid him thus far $94,600.

IT WAS not Mr. Andrus' thrift that made the money, but THE IDEA of another man, putting the eye of the other end, thus making the sewing machine possible.

Be thrifty, save, let interest work for you, by all means. But use your brain for QUICK results.

MRS. BINA ABRAMOWITZ, a Jewish actress, with six children and nine grandchildren, will be the star in a new play, "Greenberg's Daughter."

That Mrs. Abramowitz is 62 years old will interest everybody. But the fact need not surprise any one.

Sarah Bernhardt, another Jewish actress, when 62, was at the height of her power. Women become old at 50, not because their minds are less active than the minds of men, but because at 50 their children are gone, or no longer need them, and the world gives them nothing worth while to do.

Wasted power in waterfalls is as nothing compared with waste of power in the brains of women past middle age, without occupation to give their intelligence full play.

WILLIAM B. Leeds, young American with a great deal of money, sets a good example. He took out a license as air pilot, flying 35 minutes under inspection to prove his ability.

Mr. Leeds, with no particular flying plans in mind, says, "We shall all have to learn flying sooner or later."

MR. LEEDS' example is recommended to all rich young gentlemen. If each young sportsman owned a high speed pursuit plane and knew how to manage it, this country would be safer.

"JUST ANOTHER BLONDE" SCORES

Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall at Strand.

Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall scored a decided screen hit in their latest feature vehicle for First National, "Just Another Blonde," which opened yesterday at the Strand theatre for a week's stay.

It is difficult to say who deserves the most praise in this picture, Miss Mackaill, Mulhall, or Director Alfred Santell, who has added another real success to his already long list of fine pictures made of First National. "Just Another Blonde" is a delightful little story, with plenty of love interest, suspense, comedy, and thrill. It is an adaptation of the late Gerald Beaumont's story, "Even Stephen," and is the story of two young men and two young women of an unusual walk of life.

Mulhall and William Collier, Jr., play the parts of young gamblers at a gambling house. Dorothy Mackaill and the smart-looking Louise Brooks are a dance hall hostess and an attendant at a shooting gallery, respectively. The two young men have vowed never to fall in love and their life is a fifty-fifty affair. But, of course, love finds a way, even though an airplane crash does help out, and all ends happily.

This quartet of young players are admirably fitted for their roles.

Eight street, was received. Councilman Farrall declared that City Engineer Clapsaddle was drawing a salary from the city and that inasmuch as the culvert was constructed under the supervision of the city no charges should be levied against the Litten company which shared a portion of the expense of the improvement.

Service-Safety Director Moore asserted that the bill was for inspection work only and did not include engineering expenses. The complaint was referred to the finance committee and the service-safety director. Councilmen Goodballet, Poole, Hughes, Hayes, Kommel and Farrall voted yes, while Kelly voted nay.

E. A. Purton's Complaint. E. A. Purton, Bank street, appeared before council to protest against the condition of Chason alley which he declared had been left in a deplorable condition since the construction of a sanitary sewer. He asserted that the alley was impassable and that he was unable to get coal deliveries because of its condition.

Councilman Farrall expressed the belief that Purton was entitled to relief. Service-Safety Director Moore explained that the alley had never been opened and that the street department, during his administration, had never attempted to open streets, its work being to maintain those already opened. He declared that the opening of the alley back of Purton's property was one which would require a steam shovel.

Council finally voted to view the alley.

GOV. DONAHEY STARTS FUND TO AID MINERS

Heads Subscription for Relief of Children.

STRIKE GOES ON

Executive Voices Fear Tie-up is "Economic Tragedy."

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—Declaring that the nationwide coal strike is "an economic tragedy" in Ohio, and voicing fear that the strike will be a long "fight to the finish," Governor Vic Donahey, with a personal contribution of $15, today headed a public subscription list designed to aid many hundreds of destitute children of idle miners' families in the Hocking Valley district.

The governor made his contribution to a delegation, including Senator E. E. Lefevre, Athens county, representing a relief committee, consisting of merchants, bankers and union miners of the Hocking district, with headquarters at Clouster.

Soliciting his cooperation, spokesmen for the delegation told the governor of their plans for splitting money with which to aid destitute mothers and under-nourished children in the homes of miners in the Hocking Valley.

Pointing out that if the strike does not end before cold weather sets in, he, probably, will have to issue a relief proclamation to Ohioans to render assistance to many thousands of needy women and children in all of the mining districts of the state, Governor Donahey said he preferred not to issue any proclamation at this time, but, rather, would be glad to do what he could now, in the form of a personal contribution, in helping to take care of the destitute children in the Hocking Valley. He said he would render similar aid to the needy ones in other Ohio coal regions. The visiting delegation endorsed the governor's view of the situation.

U. S. MAY CURB OCEAN FLYING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The government may make an investigation of trans-oceanic flying with a view to suggesting regulatory legislation to congress.

President Coolidge told callers today that he believed such a study might well be made by the assistant secretaries of air of the navy, war and commerce departments.

Under present conditions, the president feels that the government can do nothing but advise and assist trans-oceanic flyers. The president did not say that he opposed such flights.

and that the water had immediately put the radio apparatus out of commission.

The Transylvania placed the position of the plane, at the time the "S. O. S." call was radioed, at 49.50 north latitude and 41.15 west longitude.

The Transylvania veered from her course and made a wide search for the plane but found no trace of it.

Bertaud in his last wireless message from the plane gave his position as approximately 500 miles off the Newfoundland coast. The radio-gram said.

"Five hours out from the Newfoundland coast line. Bound eastward."

It was estimated that the plane, added by a favorable wind, was making about 100 miles an hour when this message was sent.

Councilman Farrall expressed the belief that Purton was entitled to relief. Service-Safety Director Moore explained that the alley had never been opened and that the street department, during his administration, had never attempted to open streets, its work being to maintain those already opened. He declared that the opening of the alley back of Purton's property was one which would require a steam shovel.

Council finally voted to view the alley.

MAN FINED $100 ON LIQUOR COUNT

Ross Adams, who was arrested by Captain Conley at his home in Sioney alley at 6:30 o'clock last night charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, was fined $100 and costs by Municipal Judge Hanley today. A half gallon of whisky was found in the house.

"Shorty" Moore, Maplewood, arrested upon a liquor charge Saturday night, was dismissed today. Moore denied ownership of several bottles of beer found near his home.

Frank Stevens, potter, was given a suspended sentence of 30 days when he pleaded guilty to a charge of non-support filed by his wife, Florence Stephens. He was sent to jail until he arranged for the support of his four-week-old daughter, Gloria Jean.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Most of the active stocks rallied from Monday's closing slump at the beginning of trading today. New York Central led a moderate advance of the dividend rails, while stocks of the motor, steel, copper and specialty companies regained a point or two in the first period. The oil stocks were also firm, with Standards and a few of the well known independents moving upward fractionally.

An additional $2 a bale was cut from current market values of raw cotton in the early trading, bringing prices of all options back to below 22 cents a pound. There was a fractional decline in the call loan rate to 4 1/2 per cent, and the lowering of the Minneapolis reserve bank rate to 3 1/2 per cent was accepted as an evidence of satisfactory money conditions in the great agricultural districts. Industrial reports were favorable, though heads of the important western railroad systems declared they looked for a contraction of net earnings in the last quarter of 1927 as compared with last year.

Lacking definite incentive, industrial stocks drifted around aimlessly in the second period, with many of the active issues losing their early gains. Professionals were reported on the selling side of the market, and profit taking was which have moved forward briskly of late. Apprehension over the immediate developments in the money market was the principal bearish factor.

The sharp decline in grain prices at New York, Chicago and other points continued, with wheat and corn tumbling from 3 to 5 1/2 cents a bushel, oats and rye down 1 to 2 1/2 cents.

Oil stocks sold at a higher level of prices in the second hour, with Standard of New Jersey being taken in large blocks near the year's highest price.

TURNER SCORES MARSHALL BILL AT BUCYRUS

Attorney General Speaks at Rotary Meeting.

INVALID, HE SAYS

Declares U. S. Court Will Hold it Unconstitutional.

BUCYRUS, O., Sept. 13.—Characterizing as "a shocking example" the recent action taken by Ohio Methodist Episcopal clergymen in endorsing the Marshall bill at their annual tri-conference in Delaware, Attorney General Edward C. Turner stood pat today on his opinion that the Marshall bill is unconstitutional. Addressing the Rotary club here today on "Constitutional Government," Turner voiced belief that the U. S. supreme court will declare invalid the Marshall bill, if it is upheld at the state-wide referendum next November. The bill passed at the last session of the Ohio legislature, seeks to provide legal compensation for village mayors and justices of the peace in liquor cases.

"In my judgment, the upholding of such a law as the Marshall bill tends to undermine the people's respect for law," Turner asserted. "The supreme court of the United States is beyond the influence of the Anti-Saloon league. If the Marshall bill is enacted into law, in my judgment, it will be held invalid by that court. In the meantime, the stigma of unfairness and fanaticism would attach to the great state of Ohio."

RAY E. COPE, 38, COSHOCTON, DIES

Fess made his formal announcement in a statement from his home at Yellow Springs yesterday.

ganized and run on lines of the same understanding and cooperation that prevail nearly everywhere else in American industry."

Machine and Wage Questions.
Two fixed ideas that formerly possessed employers and employed were fundamentally responsible for their more serious differences that so often resulted disastrously to the country. One, held by the employer, was that he should pay the lowest possible wages and drive his workers to the utmost. The other, held by workers, was that they should resist the introduction of machines that would take the place of human labor and that they should hold down production in order to make more jobs for more workers.

Labor has learned, says Secretary Davis, that the very devices that threatened to take jobs away only create more jobs to be filled. In consequence labor is formally on record as willingly lending itself to high-speed machinery and ready to drive it to full capacity, and we not only have the machinery to produce, we have the men able and willing to produce as we never produced before.

On the other hand, the employer has learned that he can afford to pay high wages because thereby he gets full production from his workers and his plant and creates a potential market for his products. He knows that the 42,000,000 workers of the country are the largest buyers and consumers in the home market and that when they are well paid consumption is high and prosperity is assured.

Still another factor in bringing about the new era of good feeling, Secretary Davis says, is that the modern employer no longer thinks about curtailing production and laying off workers when he finds that his output is overrunning his market. Instead, he seeks to stimulate his sales and to build his market up to his production. It often happens, says the secretary, that the manufacturer who does this finds that he has not only stilled off the over-production he feared but has markedly broadened his market so that the sales are greater than ever.

In a word, we are now applying to the distribution of our products the same inventive genius that we have applied in production itself.

Present day prosperity, in the opinion of the head of the Department of Labor, is not a haphazard happening. We are prosperous because we are more intelligent; we are richer in goods because we are richer in wisdom, and we are not going to forget, suddenly, how we attained this fortunate condition.

"American business as a whole has never been conducted on a higher plane. The ranks of America's workers have never been so filled with good feeling. They have never been more highly paid. For that matter, no worker in history has ever received such wages as those now paid in our country. And I see no reason why we can not keep this condition with us indefinitely."

A Life Clouded With Pain.
Her life clouded with rheumatic pains, lumbago, and stiff, aching joints, Mrs. J. E. Stevenson, Emporia, Kansas, finally rid herself of torment by taking FOLEY PILLS diuretic. "Nearly every day some one asks me what I took that helped me when I was so crippled up and could scarcely walk. I tell them gladly of FOLEY PILLS, diuretic, and how they cured my pains and lifted the clouds from my life." A reliable, valuable medicine. Men and women everywhere use and recommend it. ## Solves Your Home Heating Problems

Here's a book on home heating—just the book you have been wanting so you will know how to get the best heating system for your particular home.

This little book explains basement arrangement, chimney construction and how to save heat by insulating your attic.

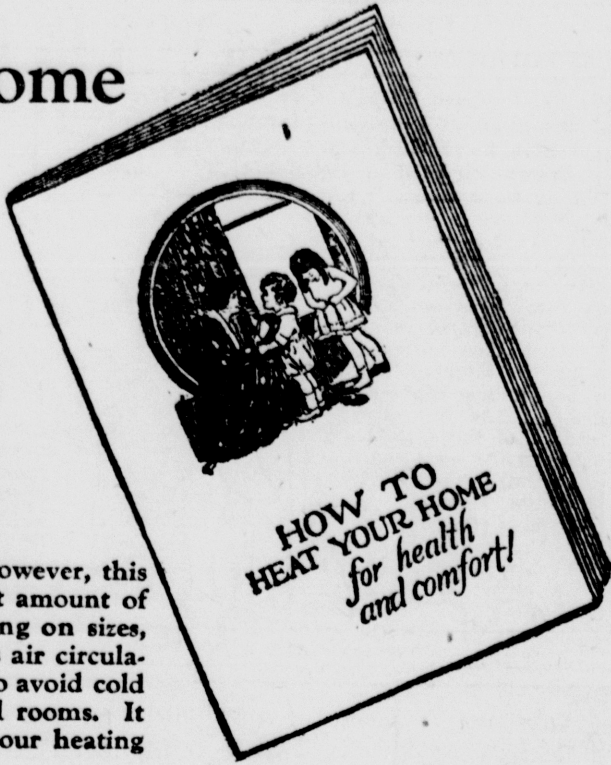

More important than anything else, however, this book tells you how to get just the right amount of measured heat for each room, depending on sizes, area, window exposure, etc. It explains air circulation—how to have warm floors—how to avoid cold corners—how to have heat alike in all rooms. It tells how to save fuel—how to make your heating system last for years and years.

Better get the book before you build or remodel your home, or, if you are going to repair or alter your heating system, because it tells you how to have cleansed, moistened, circulated air to breathe. It also tells how to arrange for a permanent local service to look after your heating system—to adjust regulators, dampers, drafts and chains to get full value from fuel and to have regular furnace cleaning, inspection and repair service so you don't even have to think about them.

Send or phone for your copy today. It will be mailed postpaid.

State Officers Will Act As Show Judges

Secretary of State Brown and Chalmers R. Wilson to Decide Winners in Automobile Style Parade.

Upon receipt of information that Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown and Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Chalmers R. Wilson of Columbus would attend the county fair at Lisbon Wednesday, Secretary Harry E. Marsden invited them to act as judges in the automobile style show and beauty contest. This will be the first time Mr. Brown and Mr. Wilson will have visited Lisbon, and because of their non-interest in contestants, it was the opinion of Secretary Marsden that they act as judges of the beauty contest.

There will be no ban upon children attending the county fair, as it was declared by County Health Commissioner Dr. T. T. Church this morning there is nothing upon a ban could be placed. "The county is practically free of all contagious ailments, other than an isolated case of whooping cough or chickenpox, and these will in no way affect children attending the county fair," the commissioner declared.

All Monday and up until noon today scores of people were engaged at the fair grounds arranging exhibits.

The first event at the fair Wednesday morning will be the cattle parade, which will be headed by the Presbyterian band of Lisbon. After the parade, the cattle will be returned to the different exhibit spaces when judging will begin.

Two soloists will appear in the grand stand Thursday with the Ceramic City band of East Liverpool. Much interest is centered in the 4-H club work, there being 38 such clubs in the county competing for prizes in live stock, cultural and home economic work. This is the first year these clubs have taken part in the county fair.

Over 1,000 head of poultry have been placed in pens in the new poultry exhibit house, a number of exhibits coming from adjoining counties. About every breed of poultry known is being displayed at the county fair this year.

Free open-air attractions have been provided by the board of fair managers this year, and these will entertain the crowd between race heats Wednesday and Thursday afternoon.

Woman Granted Divorce.

A decree of divorce on the grounds of gross neglect of duty has been granted Cora M. Jameson against her husband, Guy E. In this case Jameson has been ordered by the court to pay his wife $10 per week for her support and that of children, the custody of the latter having been awarded the mother.

Sebring

Two communications from the Limoges China company were read before council at its meeting Tuesday evening. The company is asking that the city lay a sewer line to the rear of the factory for factory use. An increase in fire plugs was also asked by this company. The Limoges company has two plugs which they claim are inadequate for complete protection. They are asking that six more be installed to afford proper protection. The request will be considered by the fire committee.

Charles S. Biery, Alliance contractor for the paving of Ohio avenue, expects to complete cement work on East Ohio avenue Thursday, according to City Engineer W. D. Sponseller.

The Ohio Public Service company is now in the field in bidding for the installation of a traffic light at the intersection of Ohio avenue and fifteenth street. Fred Hoffman, manager of the Sebring branch of the company presented his proposition to council at its meeting Tuesday evening. According to figures submitted by Hoffman, the light will cost the city $565 installed, about the same figures quoted by another representative who recently demonstrated his light to council. The operating cost on the flat rate basis will be $11.75 a month. The light will burn 18 hours a day. No action was taken on the purchase at the meeting Tuesday evening.

With 210 names on the contract for next year's chautauqua, the committee in charge of the attraction for 1928 hopes to have 250 by the time the program starts next year. A session of the committee of 10 was held Tuesday evening at Erb's following Rotary meeting. It was agreed to start activities in ticket selling and arranging for the chautauqua by April 1, next year.

After a summer of little activities the Business Men's Association will resume meetings Thursday noon at Erb's. The meeting which will begin at 1 o'clock will be devoted to putting the organization into first class shape for the winter season. There have been no meetings for several weeks. Plans will be made for fall work in Sebring stores. Reports of the summer's work will also be brought up.

Request for a permit to build an outside stairway at the Oliver restaurant, was referred to the building committee by council at its meeting Tuesday evening. Newton Oliver, owner, had requested a permit to build a stairway from the first floor to the basement directly behind the one that leads to a barber shop under the restaurant.

Having lost their meeting room in McKinley high school, Sebring Boy Scouts will meet in William Moosman's garage on North Fifteenth street, until other arrangements are made. Because of the crowded condition of the high school, it was necessary to use the room for other purposes. Plans for securing another gathering place will probably be made at the meeting Thursday evening at the garage.

Carl Lindquist, 230 Third street, Warren, driver of a light model touring car wrecked near Beloit late Sunday night was fined $100 and costs and his driving license suspended for 30 days, Tuesday night in Mayor E. F. Harmon's court on the charge of driving a car while intoxicated. Charles Swaari, Cleveland, and John Juntini, Warren, along with Lindquist, were each fined $5 and costs for intoxication. Swaari was severely hurt in the accident and was treated at the Alliance City hospital Tuesday morning. His nose was broken and his left hip badly bruised. The others escaped serious injury.

Miller, have taken up their duties as teachers in Pennsylvania. Margaret is teaching at Dormont and Dorothy at Duquesne.

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Superior Cords Get Jump On Potters In First Series Game

Parsons' Timely Hit In Fifth Nets Riley Nine 2 to 1 Victory

Lefty Crandall Winner in Mound Duel With Everett Ashe; Rival Hurling Stars Allow Six Hits Apiece.

Bunching three safe drives after two men were down in the fifth when both sides had one run the Chester Cord Tires scored a second time from Laughlin in the initial contest of the annual baseball classic of the City Industrial league on Smith field last evening, winning by the close count of 2 to 1.

Clyde Parsons drove in the needed tally making for victory and J. Evans, who had previously doubled, crossed the plate on his fateful blow. Twice subsequently the upper river West Virginians kept their opponents from equalling or going ahead of the final score.

Six Hits Apiece.
Opposing each other on the hill top were the flinging axes of the two clubs, Crandall for the Chester Cords and Ashe for Laughlin. Both allowed six hits during the clash. The latter was wilder than the former, he giving four passes. Yet none of the latter proved really costly. Crandall also had the better strike-out record, he fanning seven as against three for Ashe.

Conners, his hand badly spiked in Friday's K. T. K. game, was out of the game. Accordingly J. Evans filled in acceptably at second for the day.

Chester Lineup Changed.
Manager Riley again shook up his batting order leading off with J. Evans and Parsons and sending McConnell to the clean-up position instead of Conners. While moving Scullion up to fifth place and dropping Wilde to the sixth position. Despite the change no serious hitting was done against Ashe until the fifth when the winning run was made. It was a bad heave to second to stop P. Cebula from stealing that gave Chester their first and tying run when Scullion, who had been hit, sacrificed to second and sent to third on P. Cebula's safety to third counted.

The score was 1 to 1 as the last of the fifth loomed. Bakshi opened for Chester and fanned Finley threw out Crandall. J. Evans doubled to middle. Parsons sent a shoe-string drive to Webber in right which was too hard a chance for him to land and Evans finished. Melchorie immediately singled over second. But Laughlin still had confidence in Ashe and he stayed on the hill. Then he caused McConnell to fly to Finley.

Both teams had five men left on the base. Twice two languished for both teams and one twice while twice none were left for Chester and three times the bases were empty for Laughlin.

Newell Rallies in Fourth.
Laughlin threatened seriously in the fourth when, after Finley had popped to J. Evans, Herbert doubled through third. W. Watson missed the third strike, but made first safely as Scullion elected to nip Herbert between third and second, but Melchorie dropped his assist. Heckathorne fanned thereafter and Sayers flew to McConnell.

Two Laughlin plays may have caused their downfall. In the second Heckathorne singled sharply to middle. He rounded first, hesitated and then elected to continue to second. His hesitation proved costly as McConnell assisted to Melchorie in time to retire him as he made for the keystone sack. Crandall then threw out Sayers and fanned Randall.

In the third after Ashe had struck out Crawford singled only to be caught by Crandall off first, the pitcher.

80 Entries In Six County Fair Events
EIGHTY horses have been entered in the six races carded for the county fair at Lisbon Wednesday and Thursday, the entry list showing 20 more horses listed than a year ago, and making the line-up one of the largest in the history of the county fair.

The majority of the horses are from Ohio, although a few from Pennsylvania have been entered.

George A. Pyle of New Philadelphia will be the starter, having served the county fair in this capacity during the last two seasons. The licensed timer will be R. B. Lininger of Youngstown, who has also served at the Lisbon track. Other timers will be George A. Runsey and James S. Forbes of Clintonville, Venango county, Pa.

Judges will be A. U. Richardson of East Liverpool and G. M. Goodloe of Columbus.

Tunney Camp Deserted As Gene Visits

LAKE VILLA, Ill., Sept. 13.—Gene Tunney's aristocratic training estate was as deserted today as a down east farm after the summer boarders had left. There was no workout scheduled and even the few curiosity seekers who motored out from Chicago just to "look around" were stopped at the outer gates by the guards.

Tunney slipped out of camp last night to be the guest of his friend, Gordon Kelly, young society man. He spent the night at the latter's lake shore mansion, but was back in Lake Villa almost before the dew was off the grass.

The champion thus far has succeeded in keeping himself far away from the atmosphere of his coming fight with Jack Dempsey as possible. Six miles of road work this morning constituted about the only exercise Tunney had scheduled for the day. It marks his second day of rest after the workouts of Saturday and Sunday.

An air of optimism permeates the camp and the prediction is freely made, both by Jimmy Bronson, Tunney's chief second, and by Billy Gibson, his manager, that the fight will not go over five or six rounds.

Homers Help Race Settlers In National

By Les Conklin.
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Pittsburgh, St. Louis and New York are still occupying the money positions in the National league sweepstakes today as a result of timely home runs by their big hitters in yesterday's games.

Rogers Hornsby, anchor man for the Giants, Jim Bottomley, leading home run hitter of the Cardinals, and Glenn Wright, smoketown's crack shortstop, all kept their respective teams in the running by hitting for the circuit.

Hack Wilson, Chicago's clean-up slugger, walloped his 27th homer of the season and jumped ahead of Cy Williams in the race for league home run honors. The Bruins lost to the Giants, however, 7 to 5, and got only an even break on the series. Led by Hornsby, who made three hits in all, the Giants knocked Charley Root out of the box.

As the game ended, the Chicago fans were only too ready to say "auf wiedersehen" to Umpire Charley Pfister, and they said it with pop bottles. Rather than force the umpires to practice the safeguard of putting their masks on backward, William Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, announced that pop bottles would not be sold in the park in the future.

These Cubs are now 1-2 games behind the Cardinals and Giants, who in turn trail the Pirates by two games.

The Cardinals won again with a second string hurler. Thanks to Bottomley's homer with one on, Art Reinhart gained a 2 to 0 decision over Jumbo Elliott of Brooklyn.

Wright's homer, following another by Earl Smith, scuttled the Phillies and enabled Carmen Hill of the Pirates to win his 21st victory of the season by a 3 to 2 score.

The Reds, who are traveling at top speed but unfortunately have no destination in sight, again beat Boston twice, 6 to 4 and 3 to 0. Luque and Lucas did the pitching and lots of it, while triples by Dessen and Walker sent in the winning runs.

Herman and Grim to Hurl Next Contest

City League Flag Rivals Play Thursday at Newell.

Second game of the City League championship series between Laughlin and the Superior Cords will be played Thursday evening at 5 o'clock at Newell park.

The contest, ordinarily, would have been a Wednesday attraction but is delayed a day on account of the Newell-House of David exhibition game at Newell tomorrow.

The superior Cords, victors by a 2-1 score in the opening clash of the series yesterday at Chester, will probably line up behind Sam Herman in Thursday's game while, according to Pilot Pearl Dalley, Harry Grim, former Mid-Atlantic hurler, will take his turn on the mound for the Potters, with Lange receiving.

As a result, another high class pitching duel is in prospect between a pair of shrewd hurlers. Crandall and Ashe undoubtedly will come back for the Saturday game at Chester.

The managers were optimistic today, Riley jubilant following his club's conquest in the Hillifier and Dalley confident that his crew will come back strong to even the standing in the second game.

"We are going to try to make it four in a row," declared Riley today. "The series is only started," says Dalley. "We'll be back on even terms."

Lefty Crandall, in yesterday's game, hung up his fifth straight victory over Laughlin since the beginning of the second half.

Country Club Championship Play Starts

FIRST round matches in the East Liverpool country club championship tournament are under way the first three days of the week. Tournament competitors qualified during last week and are set for actual match performance.

All first round performances must be completed by Wednesday night. The last three days of the week will usher in the second round tilts.

Third and fourth rounds are scheduled for next week.

Trophies will be awarded winners in the two flights, of 16 players each, as well as the runners-up and consolationists.

The Kid Brother

With a happy, confident smile Garland Grange takes up his grid duties at the University of Illinois, hopeful of proving as great a football star as his big brother, Red Grange, who terrorized the Big Ten in his time.

Clandestine Sessions Keep Fans On Edge

LINCOLN FIELDS, Ill., Sept. 13.—In lieu of the latest strategic gesture of Manager Leo P. Flynn, Jack Dempsey, the popular ex-champion of the ring, will spar after nightfall to-night at his training camp at Crete. Furthermore, it is Flynn's policy to conduct this and the subsequent night-day rehearsals in all the privacy Capt. Fred Tapscott and his worthy soldiers can maintain. These moonlight maneuvers are to continue for the remaining nine days before the Dempsey-Tunney championship fight next week, the professor intimated today.

All that can be guessed as to the nature of the maneuvers is that the former champion will do some sparring therein. The extent and intensity of the sparring is entirely dependent on Professor Flynn's judgment at the moment.

NEWELL STRENGTHENS FOR WEDNESDAY TILT

Turk Nash Star on Slab Against Shaveless Boys; Fred Bratchi, Ex-major Leaguer, in Laughlin Lineup.

With Charley James, Turk Nash hurler on the slab and his battery mate, Henry Schneidmiller, receiving, and Fred Bratchi, International League performer, and ex major-leaguer in the lineup, probably in the outfield, the Laughlin City League champs are set for their exhibition game with the House of David club tomorrow afternoon at Newell park. The contest will start at 4:30 o'clock.

The presence of Fred Bratchi in the Potters' lineup adds considerable punch and baseball brains to the affair, and the Potters could do little better in the way of boosting their battery strength in working James and Schneidmiller. This also permits the regulars to rest for City League championship series duties.

Besides making up one of the best diamond aggregations in the country, the House of David athletes are an extraordinary attraction in their personal appearance, their flowing hair and beards being most unusual to say the least, on a ball field, but they are worn after the custom of the cult of which they are members.

The bearded ball players will come here from western Pennsylvania after games with Erie, Pa., on Monday and in Rochester, N. Y., Sunday.

No team in the state has been able to beat the Davidites this year, so, apparently, their whiskers do not interfere with their baseball ability. One of the most notable victories of the Davies this year was at Chicago where the famous Chicago Giants were defeated, 1 to 0. The game was featured by a home run drive off the bat of Tally, the Benton Harbor club's "Babe Ruth". Another team that has tasted defeat at the hand of the boys with the curls is the Zanesville Grays.

WEST END ROVERS SEEKING GAME

West End Rovers, recently organized independent football team, will hold its first practice session this evening at 5 o'clock at West End.

Paul Johnson will manage the Rovers during the season, booking games in the 145-pound class.

AT SALT LAKE CITY—Imey Garfinkle, Salt Lake City, knocked out Bud McCain, Columbus.

Ohio Jackie Andrews won from Ted Blatt, Indianapolis.

Sally's Shoulders

HER MAN "HONEY LOU"
THE HOLLYWOOD GIRL ETC.

by BEATRICE BURTON, Author of

SYNOPSIS:

READ THIS FIRST:
SALLY JEROME, 20 and pretty and clever, is the prop and mainstay of her family in the absence of her father, who has been separated from her mother for nine years.

The family consists of MRS. JEROME, the twins, BEAU, who's the apple of his mother's eye, and MILLIE, a young siren; and Sally herself. Mrs. Jerome is an invalid, so Sally does ried, and asks her if she knows of a girl who would do for him. Sally unwillingly tells him about Millie and promises to send her down next morning. Millie is out when she gets home for supper. Beau's ill, and Mrs. Jerome is in bed, worn out with the heat. Ted Sloan helps Sally get some food ready for them, and casually asks her to marry him. When Mrs. Jerome hears about it she cries, and Sally promises never to marry Ted.

Mrs. Jerome's face began to pucker up again, and Sally saw that for some reason or other she was going to cry again.

"Of course, that doesn't mean that I want to get married," she hurried to say, "because I don't—and there isn't a chance that I'll marry for perfect ages, if I ever do. Ted Sloan's practically the only man I know except Beau and Mr. Peevey—and I wouldn't marry Ted if he were the last

Returns Petrified Wood to Arizona

Director of National Park Service Mather Acknowledges Receipt of Shipment From East Liverpool Mna.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Pieces of petrified wood picked up by J. A. Allison, East Liverpool, Ohio, five years ago while visiting the Petrified Forest National Monument at Holbrook, Ariz., have been returned to the monument by Allison, according to a communication just received by the director of the National Park Service, Stephen T. Mather, from the custodian of the monument.

The letter follows:

"The big idea is that I couldn't get rid of him!" cried Sally, cheerfully, defending herself. She was always explaining herself and making apologies to the family.

"You slice that cold roast beef in the ice-box and I'll make you some sandwiches as soon as I give Mother this applesauce," she went on. "And I must take her some more bread too. I almost forgot that."

Beau took a step towards the ice-box. But just at that instant the telephone rang and he rushed to answer it. From the tones of his voice Sally could tell that he was talking to his Mabel.

"Say, listen, Mabel wants to throw a party here," he said to her an hour later, when they had finished their supper and were doing the dishes.

Every now and then Beau would help with the work around the house. And when he did, it always meant that he had an ax to grind—a favor to ask. So Sally was not surprised now.

"When does she want to have it?" she asked, hoping that Mabel wasn't going to "throw" a party in this broiling August heat.

But it seemed that she was.

"Tomorrow night," Beau answered, watching his sister from the corner of his light blue eye. "Not a big party. Just a few people in to have some sandwiches and ice cream, or something. She said you'd know what to order."

"Does she want me to order the food?" asked Sally, scolding the tea cups. "Because I don't know what she wants, or how many people she's going to have."

"No, you don't have to. She won't have more than ten. She said so," Beau assured her. "I don't see why she doesn't have them at her own place—but she always says you know how to do everything so well."

This was perfectly true. Mabel was always telling Sally what a good housekeeper she was, and how nicely she did things.

"Oh, how sweet your table looks!" she would tell sometimes when she came to Sunday dinner and found fresh flowers on the clean table with its shining glass and silver. Or "Oh, what perfectly darling cushions you've made for your porch chairs!" Sally Jerome, you smart thing!

And Sally, like most of us human things, was not flattery-proof.

So now she said: "All right, Beau, I'll get some kind of lunch ready tomorrow night. Only I can't be here. I've a heavy date to go dancing with Teddy."

A swift look of relief passed over Beau's handsome face, but Sally did not see it.

"How about fruit punch instead of ice-cream?" she asked, and he said that would be "the cat's whiskers." Beau was always calling things "the cat's whiskers" or "the cat's pajamas" or "the cat's bathing suit." He would use a slang phrase until it was worn thin and threadbare—until everybody else in the world had forgotten it. But he always said it as if it was something brand-new—something that had just popped into his brain.

Mabel, who was as sharp as a needle, called him "Beautiful-but-dumb" to his face.

"You're a simp and a cuckoo, but I love you anyway," she would say to him. "And I'm going to marry you even if I have to keep on working to pay the grocery bills!"

At midnight Millie came home with her hair wind-blown, her eyes misty and dreamy, and a large bunch of common daisies pinned on her breast.

"Picked these in a field along the road," she said sweetly to Sally, who was still awake and reading in bed. "Johnny Davidson took me driving for millions of miles to a road house called 'The Red Mill.' Ever been there?"

Sally shook her head. She barely heard what her sister was saying.

"How pretty she is! she was thinking, particularly when she's been out in the air, and the wind has blown some of that rouge and powder off her face. John Nye is sure to fall in love with her. Sure to! Sure as fate!"

Aloud she said: "Millie, I know where there's a good job that you can have if you want it."

She began to tell her about John Nye and the position in John Nye's office.

"I gave him my card and just a few days ago a box came by parcel post from him containing 15 pounds of wood with quite a lot of color. The postage on the box was $1.33. If all tourists were as honest as Mr. Allison we would have no trouble."

the housework mornings and works in MR. PEEVEY'S office downtown afternoons.

In the flat just below the Jeromes lives young TED SLOAN, who's in love with Sally. Sally, however, has small interest in him except as a dancing partner. She adores dancing.

The only man she is sentimentally interested in is JOHN NYE, whose real estate office is across the hall from Mr. Peevey's office. She barely knows him, however.

On a hot Monday in August Millie drops into Sally's office with the news that she's had to quit another job because another employer tried to make love to her. This is always Sally's story, but Sally knows that the real reason for Millie's quitting is because her employer did NOT make love to her.

Beau's best girl, MABEL WILMOT, has told her that Millie "just won't work around an office where there's nobody attractive enough to give her a thrill."

Millie gets a glimpse of young Mr. Nye and decides to run over and ask him if he needs a good stenographer, by any chance. Sally is dreadfully afraid that she will. She hates the thought of the siren, Millie, working for John Nye all day, six days a week.

But later that afternoon Nye tells her that his secretary has been married.

MRS. JEROME dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief that fairly reeked with cologne. She bathed her forehead with cologne whenever she had one of her sick headaches, and all of her clothes and her bedroom smelled of it from one year's end to another.

"Sally," she said forlornly, buttering a little piece of the Bohemian rye bread and popping it into her mouth. "It isn't only that I'm afraid you'll marry Ted Sloan. I don't want you to marry anybody—at least, not for a long time. What on earth would I do without you, sick as I am? And, anyway married life isn't all rose-leaves and sugar pills, either! Don't you be in a hurry to jump into it. Look at me! I wish I'd never heard the word 'marry'!"

Sally began to set the bedside table to rights—brushing up the crumbs on it, smoothing down the dog-eared pages of a book, putting the medicine bottles and the pill boxes in a neat row along the back of it. Her hands moved quietly, quickly, deftly, like the hands of a trained nurse.

"I can't think married life is so terrible, Mother," she said firmly, after a minute or two. Her blue eyes were serious and thoughtful. "Or so many people wouldn't get married and live together, would they?"

Now that her children were grown and no longer needed her, she had no interest in life except the books in which she buried her humiliation and her sorrow. Her sickroom was a kind of safe harbor from the world. There she hid herself from the people who pitted her, month in and month out, year after year.

Finleys Get Award For City Hall Here

Chester Company's $35,985 Bid is Accepted at Special Meeting of City Council.

Contract for the erection of a combined city hall and fire station was awarded last night at a special meeting of council to the Finley Brothers, Chester. The work is to be completed by April 1.

The bid of the successful firm, $35,985, was submitted last week. At the same time Winland Brothers of East Liverpool put in a bid for $34,980. During the interim a number of changes, it is said, were made in the plans which resulted in the building committee, Councilmen Charles Davia, John Hobbs and John Patton, recommending that the award be made to the Chester contractors. The report was approved by the other members. Contract will be signed Thursday night.

The structure will occupy a tract on the north side of Carolina avenue, at the corner of Fourth street. The building will have a frontage of 60 feet on Carolina avenue and will be about 84 feet in depth. It will have a basement.

Cell rooms, council chamber, offices for city officials and quarters for the fire department will be on the first floor. It is planned to use the second floor as an auditorium, suitable for meetings and basketball games.

HALL CHARGES WASTE OF MONEY

Five million dollars are being wasted yearly in the administration of the educational system of the state, Grant P. Hall, state commissioner, told the state convention of real estate men in session yesterday at Charleston. He also charged that the state and its political subdivision are not receiving full value for the money spent in road construction.

He gave as reason for this extravagance a lack of centralized authority and responsibility in fiscal affairs and the modern "bond madness." He pointed out that 55 county governments and the state are building roads, not always with the proper co-operation. He reminded his audience that 397 district boards of education and the state board of education spent more than $25,000,000 yearly on district schools and state institutions.

The ease with which bond issues are voted caused the taxpayers to forget that they are merely postponing the day of reckoning, he declared. His suggestion for stopping the mounting burden of taxation is the creation of a central body with full authority over district, county and state tax levies and expenditures, and the establishment of a central purchasing agent to buy all supplies needed by the state, the counties, municipalities and district boards of education.

The convention will close tomorrow afternoon with election of officers and selection of the next convention city.

QUARANTINE BAN STILL IN EFFECT

While the infantile paralysis quarantine has been lifted in Brooke county, where no cases exist, the quarantine does not effect the lifting of the state quarantine which prohibits children under the ages of 15 years from leaving or entering the state.

Attention to the state quarantine is called by state troopers, who say that during the past three days, hundreds of children have been turned back at the Steubenville bridge, because of the state quarantine which is still in effect.

The quarantine which placed the ferries and inter-state bridges under guard by the West Virginia state troopers was issued by the state health department at Charleston and according to the troopers and Brooke county health authorities who were interviewed on the question, said that the quarantine is in effect and that children under the ages of 15 years will be prohibited from either entering or leaving the state until the order is rescinded by the state health department.
